Investment Opportunities and Returns

Three family members, Bob, Sam and Rina, received R400 000, R200 000 and R300 000 respectively from their deceased grandfather's estate in January 2005.

Bob immediately invested his R400 000 in fixed property in Ballito, a coastal resort in KwaZulu-Natal. In September 2007, the local government gave the go-ahead for the construction of the new King Shaka International Airport and this boosted the demand for residential property in the surrounding area. In December 2007, Bob received an offer of R500 000 from an estate agent and sold his property.

Sam, on the other hand, invested his R200 000 in Gold Reef Shares. He purchased 20 000 shares at R10 each in January 2005. In December 2007 Sam sold all his shares at R20 each.

Rina invested her R300 000 for two years in a fixed deposit account at a commercial bank at an interest rate of 15% p.a.

QUESTION 4

4.1 Read the case study below and answer the questions that follow.

Rainbow Car Sales

Rainbow Car Sales is a well-established car dealership situated in Bisho in the Eastern Cape. This dealership specialises in the sales of new as well as used vehicles. During the past year, Rainbow Car Sales appointed two new workers in the sales department. Both employees were African females. The sales department also has three male employees consisting of two whites and one coloured.

Many of these employees purchased their new vehicles from Rainbow Car Sales. After a few months, the African female employees achieved the best sales figures compared to the previous years.

Based on this performance, one of the African females, Ms Beauty Khuzwayo, was promoted to the position of sales manageress. This caused serious problems within the sales team, where employees grouped themselves on racial lines during the breaks. There was open conflict regarding performance of duties between the sales manageress and staff under her supervision. They did not show cooperation and lacked motivation.

Ms Beauty Khuzwayo printed business cards and visited all the local companies to promote Rainbow Car Sales while the other sales personnel waited for 'walk-in' business. They did not leave the business premises to market Rainbow Car Sales.

Unhappy employees handed a written complaint to management about the promotion and about the negligence of the well-being of employees. They accused management of overlooking senior sales personnel in the promotion process. They requested a written response from management.

- 4.1.1 Describe THREE causes of conflict within Rainbow Car Sales. Use the information from the case study to support your answer. (6)
- 4.1.2 Assume you are the manager of Rainbow Car Sales. List any FIVE steps that you would follow to resolve the conflict. (10)
- 4.1.3 Rainbow Car Sales employees do not belong to a trade union. Advise the employees on whether they should join a trade union. State FOUR reasons to support your decision. (10)
- 4.1.4 Recently, one of the employees of Rainbow Car Sales was dismissed from work. It was alleged that management had accused him of being under the influence of alcohol whilst on duty. The employee was not consulted and had to leave with immediate effect. Give SIX reasons why you consider this dismissal to be unfair. (12)
- 4.1.5 One of the complaints to Rainbow Car Sales was that management did not consider the well-being of its employees in the workplace. Explain any TWO ways in which you would improve this situation. (6)

QUESTION 5

Read the following case study and answer the question that follows on the next page.

Gugulethu Furniture Manufacturers

Gugulethu Furniture Manufacturers is situated near Cape Town. The entrepreneur receives his income by selling manufactured household furniture such as tables, chairs and kitchen units which are sold to consumers in the Western Cape. Recently, management has noticed that sales have declined. The entrepreneur holds a meeting between management and workers on 22 September 2008

The workers make the following input:

1. Employees are unhappy with management because there is no trade union to take up labour grievances with management.
2. Employees state that cheap imports of household furniture are affecting the company and will, in the future, affect their employment.
3. Workers receive no medical attention or support for those infected with HIV/Aids.
4. Workers complain about the noise levels of the machinery which affect their hearing.

Management states the following:

1. Veld fires during the dry winter season had a serious impact on the supply of raw materials which hampered production.
2. The new Credit Act had a negative effect on credit applications and many of the clients did not meet the minimum requirements.
3. Gugulethu Furniture Manufacturers secured a loan of R500 000 from African Bank at 16% interest p.a. The monthly repayment has increased as a result of a higher interest rate.
4. Sales personnel are not presenting manufactured items for sale persuasively enough.
5. Recently, a competent employee resigned from the factory and opened his own furniture manufacturing business in Gugulethu, which is situated (located) five kilometres away.

Identify the challenges raised and classify them according to the THREE business environments. Suggest practical ways or strategies that this manufacturer can use to control or overcome these challenges. Make recommendations to Gugulethu Furniture Manufacturers on whether it should continue to operate in this sector.
